RAIN or SHINE

Welcome!

We hope you enjoy this year's show. Over 100 artists have joined us to feature their artistic creations in many media, styles and functions. Inside this booklet you will find a guide to the artists, food vendors, children activities, and music schedule.

The proceeds from this show help to support the many programs of the Rehoboth Art League. For over 70 years the league, a nonprofit arts organization, has provided art education, exhibitions and open studios for artists and art enthusiasts. We treasure the legacy of Delaware artists and currently care for over 200 works of art in our permanent collection.

The historic campus includes the 1743 Homestead, the 1780 Paynter Studio, and the beautiful formal gardens. They are preserved for all to enjoy, and to gain a glimpse of the rich history here in southern Delaware. Please take a moment to visit the members tent which features upcoming classes, as well as highlights our program of events.

In addition to the artists featuring their work outdoors. The Gallery, Homestead and Paynter Studio display additional members artwork. A special part of the show is the Homestead Docent fundraiser, which sells artwork to raise funds for the care of the Homestead.

We are very grateful to the many, many volunteers who have graciously given up their weekends to help support this program. This show would not be possible without their time and dedication.

Thank you for your patronage today, and have a wonderful time.

Sheila Bravo—Executive Director

About the Image on the Front

To raise funds to support the care of the permanent collection, the Art League is selling a special t-shirt at the outdoor show, featuring the artwork of Howard Schroeder.

Howard Schroeder (1910-1995), a nationally known artist who lived in Lewes, was an active member of the Rehoboth Art League for many decades. As a teacher, he influenced hundreds of artists in the area. He is best known for his images of Delaware: its beaches, waterways, towns, and personalities. Howard was a regular artist at the Art League's Outdoor show. In fact, it was his idea to start up this tradition at the League; indicating that the indoor exhibition space was not enough to showcase all of the artwork. The image he painted above represents the Outdoor Show as he saw it in 1988.

The shirts will be available in several sizes during the outdoor show at the member's tent and in the Corkran Gallery. The original painting is on loan from Logan Short (grandson of Howard Schroeder) and will be on display at the Corkran Gallery during the show.

Entry Fee good towards membership or $5 off purchase of art

As part of our mission to support artists, this year's entry fee can be applied towards purchase of art of over $100 or more, or towards future programming with an annual membership. To qualify, please hold onto the voucher given to you and redeem for membership at the Membership tent or Corkran Gallery, or at the locations where you pay for your art purchase.
